Indoor Timber Sports Floor Covers

As sports fans first, we truly believe that better surface protection means better performance. Unlike other companies, we believe your sports surface is too important to simply offer sports floor covers by their weight. That is why Covermaster's Ultima Series covers are superior to any other sports floor cover available. Made from premier chemical components, the Ultima Series indoor timber floor covers are more durable and safer than an extruded or laminated cover.

A hardwood or synthetic floor that's protected by Covermaster floor protection will help prevent the floor from being damaged by street shoes, chairs and table legs or stained by spills. Obviously, this minimises floor maintenance costs including floor refinishing and resurfacing. And by using the facility for events other than sports, the facility can generate income that can be put to use to meet regular expenses or finance special equipment
